PRESIDENT REVIEWS FORCES FROM ATLANTIC FLEET.

New York, May 18.—A disturbance, due to rain, from which "occasional showers" fell, did not appear to damage the interest of thousands of opera-goers, who watching and cheering on the way to an eye-catching solid state in front of them, along the whole line of the sailors' march.

President Wilson, who arrived at Washington on the Presidential yacht Mayflower shortly after midnight, reviewed the parade from the grand stand. It was easy to see from the President's demeanor that he was very proud of the great showings made by the staff for the event.

The picture shows the parade passing the reviewing stand. The heart is of the President as he was saluting the colors.
