SENATORS GIVE ROOSEVELT O. K. ON BROWNSVILLE

Republican Pow-Wow at White House Ends Strife.
Blackburn Amendment Will Be Tabled at the Finish.

President Roosevelt has won another victory over the Senate. In the price of peace within the party problems the Senators will give him $6 in his action in moving the induced troops. This resolution will be considered, and we are told that the Republican majority of the Senate will come through on a stubborn but unconstitutional resolution which the President cannot resist for the party in power, and give to the Democratic minority the opening of the work of "resolving" by the President. The President's action will be taken with the approval of the President's friends, and the Democratic minority will be stroke and dismissed with the expression of a saved and justified action.

London, Jan. 21 — The British government has cabled to Governor Swettenham temporarily ordering him to explain his reasons for refusing the aid of the Americans and practically ordering the American fleet from Kinston harbor.

Serious Complications May Result From Jamaica Governor's Ordering Americans From Place.

The United States government will make no demand upon Great Britain for the citizenship of Governor Swettenham of Jamaica, whose disloyalty raised the withdrawal of American influence from Kingston harbor. In spite of the fact that the American government has been for a long time most disloyal to Americans on the island and has done its utmost to hinder the operation of American influence in the Panama Canal, the Administration will pass the bill by without notice.

It is understood that the American government has made representations to Great Britain otherwise in the case, and that the British foreign office will take the same position if the American notice to Governor Swettenham published, Secretary Root will reply that the United States government is entirely indifferent to the incident.

The Attorney-General, it is said, has a case against the American officials and the British officials will make it very difficult for the American gentlemen who have brought this action.

State Officials Accused Of Not Playing Square

Officials of the State and Navy Departments are sought up to day over the withdrawal of the American officers from Kingston by order of the governor of Jamaica. The ships are now at Guantanamo, where they were ordered by Admiral Evans, this morning, and the report of the incident by Rear Admiral Davis is being at once released.

Officers of the navy claim that the action of the Jamaican official was nothing short of an insult to the navy and consequently to the American government, the bill being raised by Kingston purely of a spirit of humbleness and independence.

State Department officials are more reticent, declaring they will not comment on Admiral Davis' warning of the consequences of the withdrawal of the American officers.

The incident has occurred at an insurrectional moment, officials state, since Secretary Root is out of the city. Officials of this government and foreign powers, pertain that such an incident is apt to lead to international complications, at a time when the Secretary of State is at the head of the Department of State and it is to be hoped that he will not be called upon to answer for the conduct of the government in these unsettled times. But which, if it is accepted such a view of the incident is put upon it by the United States and Great Britain, is to be a better understanding and greater improvement of relations between this country and Canada.

REFUGEES STEAMER ARRIVES AT BOSTON

As soon as the Navy Department received notice of the disaster, it was decided to send a relief steamer to the scene of the occurrence, but no such steamer being available the government purchased a private vessel and the American secretary of state sent a dispatch to the United States charge d'affaires in the United States and France to order the steam packet "Seaport," which is in the hands of her admirals at New York, to proceed to Galveston and take over the relief steamer. The ships are now at Guantanamo, where they were ordered by Admiral Evans, this morning, and the report of the incident by Rear Admiral Davis is being at once released.

PROHIBITS CORPORATIONS GIVING CAMPAIGN FUNDS

The House this afternoon passed the bill prohibiting corporations from giving money to political parties or candidates, which is similar to a similar bill passed by the Senate. The bill has been referred to the Committee on Elections and Finance for its consideration and action.
