A DIAMOND MYSTERY

BY DEREK VANE

FIRST OF ALL, HOW DID YOU MANAGE TO SECURE THE DIAMONDS?

There are so many things in this world which are surrounded by mystery. But, as you, my dear, have already told me, I think there is no mystery greater than that of the diamond. And yet, when you come to consider the facts, there is really nothing mysterious about it at all. It is simply a stone, polished and cut into the shape of a gem, that is the symbol of love and regard. And yet, when one considers the circumstances under which it was found, it is surprising how little we know of it.

They're not locked, you know. They're not locked, you see. They're not locked.

I should have thought, my dear, that you would have realized by this time that when one has a diamond, one ought to have a key. And yet, my dear, I must say that I am surprised at your ignorance in this matter.
