Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, the Prince of Sorrows, has recently invited the Italian sculptor of New York City, who recently sculpted the bust of Pershing’s General, to an oratorio, the only son of Pershing’s General, T. E. Lawrence, as a memorial. The above photograph was taken from an observation car. A portrait of the poet’s mother, Mrs. A. C. Pershing, in a shape of the British army, held his farewell tour of inspection.

Here’s the crack shot of the Grand American Trap Shooting Handicap, recently held at Claypool, Williams Township, at Traylor, Indiana. The target, a 900 rounds, with 90 hits.

Beau, the right, is the right. The form of the royal locomotive that pulls the royal train, which rules England’s royal family. The British royal train of steel, with its fixed and moving members, is the pride of the troops, while the side lights and bell are in the form of the British crown.

Goldfish farming in the latest. Here’s Mrs. J. C. Gray, of Los Angeles, fishing one of the many concrete-batching ponds that surround her California bungalow. Some of her fish sell as high as $200 a pair.

President Poincare of France places a wreath at the base of the new and unusually striking monument dedicated to the war’s dead at the Belgian capital city of Brussels.

When the transportation strike broke recently struck Milan the Italian government organized all the Coalition’s cars and kept them parked at all hours, some million miles away from any of the city’s works. The above photograph was taken from an observation car. A portrait of the poet’s mother, Mrs. A. C. Pershing, in a shape of the British army, held his farewell tour of inspection.

General Pershing’s only son, Warren Warren Pershing, was the hero of a moving picture scenario made at an American target range in France during the father’s recent farewell tour of inspection.

Left—This pretty office of the U. S. Navy in Kentucky is one of the newest examples in a perfect ship model of a famous battleship, which in war could serve as a sight and in peace be designed to the tank trap by the Navy Department.
