launching a big battlehip.

how a battleship looks when she slides into the water.

the new battling launched at philadelphia the other day is expected to be the largest ship ever built. the ship is laid down in the shipyard of the bald tillage and will be built for the us navy. the battleship will be a typical example of the type of ship that has been built in the past and is expected to be the largest ship ever built.

the battleship is expected to be a powerful weapon in the war against the germans. it is expected to be armed with a large number of guns and will be able to sink large numbers of ships.

the battleship will be able to move at a speed of 20 knots and will be able to carry a large number of wounded men to safety.

the battleship will be a typical example of the type of ship that has been built in the past and is expected to be the largest ship ever built.

the battleship will be a typical example of the type of ship that has been built in the past and is expected to be the largest ship ever built.