FOOD PRESERVATIVES. Competition Between Salt and Iodine.

A Mr. Franklin N. Hammar of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture, has written a paper showing the possibilities of preserving food by means of iodine and comparing the results obtained with food preserved by means of salt.

The two processes of salting and pickling and preserving need of a medium length of time. A gram of salting or pickling compound may be preserved for a longer period than a gram of iodine compound.

Mr. Punskin on Togo's Victory.

'He fired her, did he?' said Mr. Punskin. 'Yes, sir,' replied his watchman. 'Then why didn't you speak up then?' 'I didn't know he was a sailor,' said his watchman. 'Well, I didn't know he was a captain,' said Mr. Punskin.

ETIQUETTE

Punctilious Timing.

'When did Old Ironsides battle the Japanese?' 'Well, sir,' said his watchman, 'he was too busy fighting the British.'

The Difference between Human and Spider Silk.

Spider silk is not as strong as human silk, but it is easier to weave and requires less labor.

The First Convert.

The first convert was a man who had been "baptized" in so many places that he could not remember them all. His name was Mr. Smith and he was a very good man.

Hammer, Ohio.

Mr. Smith had been converted by the Salvation Army in his youth and had never forgotten them. He had been a member of the Army for many years and was a good worker.
