Weight Frauds in Ice Trade to Be Halted

Official Mystified by His Own High Bill Intends Investigating.

When the number of ships being loaded with supposed American ice at the ports of Spain, Cuba, and other places is considered, the great amount of American capital invested in the ice trade, and the fact that some of the vessels engaged in it are of the first class, it is easy to understand why the alleged frauds in the trade have caused so much consternation. The Department of Commerce and Labor has been informed not only that the ice traded in these waters was not American, but that much of it was of a quality to which the collectors of the American revenue could not give any stamp of approval. The matter has been investigated, and the result has been to prove that the ice was not only not American, but that it was not fit for consumption in this country.

Miss Nellie Castle Turns on Gas in Aunt's House.

On Sunday afternoon, Nellie Castle, aged 11, was playing in the living room of her aunt's house, when she suddenly cried out that the room was on fire. Her aunt, who was in the kitchen, immediately rushed to the room and found that the gas had been turned on. She immediately turned off the gas and called the fire department. The room was saved, but Nellie was badly burned. She is now recovering in the hospital.

Dozen of Battleship Georgia's Wounded Are Hovering Between Life and Death

UNITED STATES BATTLESHIP GEORGIA

List of Dead Numbers Eight, With More Likely.

Many Deeds of Heroism Shown By Victims of Explosion.

Awful Scene in the Turret Described by Midshipman.

List of Wounded And the Injuries

The list of injured from the explosion on the battleship Georgia, together with the condition of each, as furnished to the Navy Department, is as follows:

- Midshipman Crew, head and face, serious.
- William Thomas, seaman, head and face, serious.
- Joseph Walsh, seaman, head and face, serious.
- Edward Jones, seaman, head and face, serious.
- William Francis, seaman, head and face, serious.
- John Miller, seaman, head and face, serious.
- James Patrick Thomas, seaman, head and face, serious.
- Samuel Louis Durr, seaman, head and face, serious.
- Edward Walsh, seaman, head and face, serious.
- Samuel Lewis, seaman, head and face, serious.
- Charles Brown, seaman, head and face, serious.
- J. B. Jones, seaman, head and face, serious.

Conspicuous Deeds of Heroism on Board Battleship Georgia

Midshipman Embrill held his breath, clapped his cap over his face, and bade out flames from his comrade's clothes.

Chief Yeoman Orly Taggert threw his body on that of Lieutenant Goodrich to save that young officer.

A seaman sprang to magazine hatch and closed it, saving ship and giving his life.

Chaplain Carlson first reached the turret and offered aid to Midshipman Cruz. "I'm all right," said that terribly injured hero. "Look after the others."