BIG FLEET SELLS AWAY

Continued from last page

Vigorous barbette guns and the smaller-caliber carriage guns of the Monitor class of monitors, which had been the Navy's forerunners, were built by the Devon Navy Yard, the last of the old-time Navy yards. It was a yard that had been much admired in its day, and the Monitor class was the last of the naval warships to be built in it. The Monitor class was also the last of the naval warships to be built in the old-time Navy yards.

The Monitor class was also the last of the naval warships to be built in the old-time Navy yards. The Monitor class was also the last of the naval warships to be built in the old-time Navy yards. The Monitor class was also the last of the naval warships to be built in the old-time Navy yards.