WAR FLEET NOW ON WAY TO MEXICO TO FORCE SALUTE

The Evening World, Wednesday, April 16, 1914.

WAR FLEET NOW ON WAY TO MEXICO TO FORCE SALUTE

The United States Navy was putting to sea today under terms of the treaty of 1836, for the purpose of forcing the government of Mexico to comply with the terms of the treaty. The fleet consists of the battleship New York, the cruisers New Mexico, Utah, and Vincennes, and the destroyers Omaha, Boston, and Portsmouth. The New York, under the command of Rear Admiral William A. Bowles, will proceed to the Gulf of California, where the other vessels will join her. The New York will proceed to the west coast of Mexico and the other vessels will proceed to the east coast of Mexico. The fleet will be under the command of Rear Admiral Bowles.

FURLoughed Sailors Hurry Back Aboard the Louisiana

Three hundred off on ten days' leave and many didn't wait for recall—Draft of 100 to take place of absentees and bring ship up to fighting strength.

Crews of Warships Cheer as Battle Ship Goes in Commission

 Recommendations for the recall of all officers and men of the fleet will be made after the completion of the mission. The New York will be under the command of Rear Admiral Bowles, and the other vessels will be under the command of Rear Admiral Bowles.

MEXICO-CHICAGO

Preceding the publication of this article, the United States government had declared war on Mexico.

WAR FLEET NOW ON WAY TO MEXICO TO FORCE SALUTE

The United States Navy was putting to sea today under terms of the treaty of 1836, for the purpose of forcing the government of Mexico to comply with the terms of the treaty. The fleet consists of the battleship New York, the cruisers New Mexico, Utah, and Vincennes, and the destroyers Omaha, Boston, and Portsmouth. The New York, under the command of Rear Admiral William A. Bowles, will proceed to the Gulf of California, where the other vessels will join her. The New York will proceed to the west coast of Mexico and the other vessels will proceed to the east coast of Mexico. The fleet will be under the command of Rear Admiral Bowles.

FURLoughed Sailors Hurry Back Aboard the Louisiana

Three hundred off on ten days' leave and many didn't wait for recall—Draft of 100 to take place of absentees and bring ship up to fighting strength.

Crews of Warships Cheer as Battle Ship Goes in Commission

Recommendations for the recall of all officers and men of the fleet will be made after the completion of the mission. The New York will be under the command of Rear Admiral Bowles, and the other vessels will be under the command of Rear Admiral Bowles.

MEXICO-CHICAGO

Preceding the publication of this article, the United States government had declared war on Mexico.