HOPEFUL OF PROSPECTS FOR PEACE

Bryan and Wilson Declare They Believe Treaty Will Accede to the Strongest for Settlement

OTHER POWERS ARE TAKING HAND

England, France and Germany Urge Dictator to Accept Mediation by U. S. Troops Arrive at Vera Cruz

BULLETIN

Telegram from London, April 27—The recent acceptance by the British Cabinet of the American offer to mediate in the Mexican dispute has been announced. The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

TELEGRAMS TO THE UNITED STATES

Telegram from London, April 27—The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

TELEGRAMS TO THE UNITED STATES

Telegram from London, April 27—The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

TELEGRAMS TO THE UNITED STATES

Telegram from London, April 27—The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

TELEGRAMS TO THE UNITED STATES

Telegram from London, April 27—The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

TELEGRAMS TO THE UNITED STATES

Telegram from London, April 27—The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

TELEGRAMS TO THE UNITED STATES

Telegram from London, April 27—The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

TELEGRAMS TO THE UNITED STATES

Telegram from London, April 27—The British Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Berlin, April 27—The German Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.

Telegram from Paris, April 27—The French Cabinet has declared that it will not accept any terms that are to the advantage of the United States, and will not throw its weight against the United States in the dispute.