Teddy at Least Has His Fedora

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.

Teddy Roosevelt's health is by no means at its best, but the former President has at least one new accessory. It is a large black leather hat, or "fedora," which he received as a gift from President Davids of Norway. The hat is made of thick woolen felt, and is lined with blue satin. It is not, however, a fashionable hat, as it is considerably larger than the average fedora. Teddy Roosevelt is known for his love of adventure and his love for the outdoors, and this hat seems to be a fitting accessory for such a man.