PLANTING TREES ON FOREST IN THE OGDEN DISTRICT

With the recent resumption of the general agricultural conditions and favorable spring weather, the demand for tree planting is rapidly increasing in the Ogden District. S. G. Ogden, the leading nursery man in the city, states that he has observed a great demand for trees, particularly for shade trees, and that he has been unable to keep up with the demand.

The business of planting trees in the Ogden District has been greatly increased during the past year, and it is expected that it will continue to increase in the future. The demand for trees is due to the fact that the city is becoming more and more a residential city, and the people are becoming more and more interested in the beautification of their homes.

At the present time, S. G. Ogden is planting trees from the trees he has planted in the past year, and he is also planting trees from the new trees he has planted. The demand for trees is so great that he is unable to keep up with the demand.

The planting of trees is a very important part of the work of the Ogden District, and it is expected that the demand for trees will continue to increase in the future. The people are becoming more and more interested in the beautification of their homes, and they are becoming more and more interested in the planting of trees.