Dewey's Plan of Campaign

How the Army of Invasion Will Occupy Cuba, Porto Rico Giving the Government Great Concern

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Shafter's plan of campaign as described by the war department, after consulting with General Miles and Shafter, contemplates the occupation of Cuba from Camp Matanzas at the eastern extremity of the island, to the point which crosses the island from north to south, near the boundary separating Santa Clara from Puerto Principe province. If the plan is successful, those two provinces, Santa Clara and Puerto Principe, will be controlled by the United States troops and Cuban insurgents before July 6. Cienfuegos will probably not be assailed until September, and the investment of Havana is not expected to occur before October. The pressing question is Porto Rico. Everything being done in the war department has for its object the expedition for the invasion of that island. In ten days, it is thought, the army will start for that point, and after that is disposed of, Shafter, who will probably get needed reinforcements before that time, will send more troops.

The president, secretary and General Miles, after several conferences lasting until late this afternoon, decided to get 20,000 men under way for Porto Rico at the earliest possible moment, and to be in readiness to reinforce General Shafter with at least 10,000 men if he calls for aid. The hungry Cubans are to be fed. The war department decided today that provisions should be hurried to the eastern end of Cuba as rapidly as transports could be secured.
