TORPEDO BOAT TERROR SUNK.

Searchlight of the Texas Found Her and the Guns of the Fleet Sent Her Down.

On board the Herald-Post's Dispatch Boat Somers N. Smith, Off Port Antonio, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 7.—Under a terrible fire by the whole American fleet, a Spanish torpedo boat destroyer, supposed to be the Terror, was shattered and sunk as she was trying to sneak into the harbor of Santiago last night. Her destruction was accomplished in a few minutes, as terrible was the fusillade from the American ships. The torpedo boat destroyer was located by the lights on the battleship Texas. Just as the Herald-Post's dispatch boat was about to leave Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet to carry the news of the Santiago bombardment, the Terror came within range of the Texas searchlight. Immediately there was a call to quarters. The Texas gave the signal to the whole fleet, which at once flashed their searchlights on the enemy and began a terrific cannonading. The Terror was sunk in a remarkably short time. I was unable to learn whether any of her crew were saved.

SANTIAGO AGAIN SHELLED!

Sampson and Schley Had Gun Practice on Spanish Forts.

The Story Is Told Today On Page Four With Full Particulars.