*The Decommissioning Ceremony and the Commissioning Pennant
A Ceremony Reflecting Centuries of Tradition:*

The Ceremony:

The ceremony that decommissions a United States Ship is a time-honored tradition. The decommissioning ceremony signifies the ship's retirement from active service and entry into the Reserve Fleet. The symbols used in today's ceremony have their origins in antiquity.

Commissioning Pennant:

During the middle-ages, the mark of the knight and other nobles was a "coach whip pennant" called a pennon. The size of these pennons, as well as their diverse splendor, usually signified the relative rank and importance of the noble it heralded. During the infancy of modern naval seapower, these nobles rarely embarked upon seagoing vessels, but when they did, they flew their pennons from the most visible place on the ship, usually the forecandle or the main mast.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

July 28, 2003

I send greetings to those gathered for the decommissioning of the USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64).

The USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64) is the third ship in the United States Navy to bear the name of the legendary frigate that served our young Republic more than 200 years ago. Like her famous namesake, this CONSTELLATION has earned an honored place in our Nation's maritime history. From the Eastern Pacific to the Arabian Gulf, the CONSTELLATION has lived up to her reputation as "America's Flagship" in defense of our freedoms. From distinguished combat service in Vietnam and deterrence missions during the Cold War, to humanitarian efforts in the Pacific and Indian Oceans, to most recently Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation Iraqi Freedom, the CONSTELLATION carried out important duties that advanced peace in a troubled world. The many crewmembers who have walked her decks can take pride in their contributions to our Navy and our Nation.

As the CONSTELLATION lowers her colors after nearly 42 years of service, I salute her current officers and crew for their hard work and commitment to excellence. We also remember all those who have served with courage, honor, and dedication aboard this great ship through the years. Decommissioning may be the end of a ship's service, but it is not the end of the pride and tradition of service to America that remain in the hearts of the crewmembers and friends of the CONSTELLATION.

Laura joins me in sending our best wishes on this special occasion. May God bless you, and may God continue to bless the United States of America and all who defend her.

THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
1000 DEFENSE PENTAGON
WASHINGTON, DC 20301-1000

AUG 1 2003

To the crew of the USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64),

I would like to extend my personal congratulations to the officers and crew who have served aboard USS CONSTELLATION (CV64) through her nearly 42 years of service to our country. She has earned her reputation as a bold ship both in war and in peace, and has proved worthy of the title "America's Flagship." As this great ship leaves active service, a most distinguished legacy remains.

Just imagine the remarkable period of our history in which USS CONSTELLATION has sailed in harm's way in defense of freedom. Our nation prevailed over a determined Soviet adversary through the Cold War, successfully embarked on a global war against terrorism and Al Qaeda, and led a coalition to liberate the people of Iraq from years of tyranny and remove a dangerous threat to our national security.

Although her pennant is hauled down today, USS CONSTELLATION has earned the gratitude of all Americans. The spirit of this fine warship and the sailors and marines who served in her will live on in those who she leaves behind in service to our nation.

Sincerely,

THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20350-1000

GREETINGS TO THE OFFICERS AND CREW OF
USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64)

As USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64) hauls down her colors after nearly forty-two years of patriotic service, please accept my personal congratulations to all who have served aboard her throughout her long and distinguished career.

The USS CONSTELLATION has performed with distinction for more than four decades in service to our Nation. She is a veteran of many foreign conflicts from Vietnam to Operation IRAQI FREEDOM, and has participated in countless exercises and humanitarian missions. During a long and illustrious career, we have witnessed this mighty ship serving as both warrior and diplomat.

CONSTELLATION has secured her place in the annals of Naval history. Now that her tour of active duty is at an end, those who served aboard her can reflect with great pride upon her many significant contributions to this Nation's defense. This fine ship's legacy stands as a noble reminder of our steadfast commitment to maintaining a democratic world for generations to come.

To all who have served aboard USS CONSTELLATION, I wish you fair winds and following seas.

A MESSAGE FOR THE OFFICERS AND THE CREW OF
USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64)

As you prepare to decommission USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64), I congratulate you and all crewmembers on this historic occasion. While it is always difficult to bid farewell to an old friend, each of you can take pride in your accomplishments throughout CONSTELLATION's distinguished career.

For nearly forty-two years, CONSTELLATION crews and air wings served our country with distinction. From "Yankee Station" in Vietnam to "Ground Hog Station" in Somalia, CONSTELLATION has proudly carried on the motto of "America's Flagship" with honor and dignity. Through twenty-one major deployments, "CONNIE" compiled an enviable record, which most recently included flying more than 1,500 sorties during Operation IRAQI FREEDOM. The multitude of campaign, service and proficiency awards demonstrates the high level of duty that distinguished CONSTELLATION through her years.

Today's ceremony is not the final call in CONSTELLATION's long journey. The memory of this ship will live on in the hearts of all of us who have served aboard, and in the hearts of freedom-loving people around the world.

All the best!

7 August 2003

Dear Captain Miller,

On the occasion of the decommissioning of USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64), congratulations to you and your superb crew. From her first deployment in 1964 to her twenty-first and final deployment completed this June, CONSTELLATION has played a proud and important role in Naval Aviation and our nation's history. Through nearly forty-two years of service, her crew has answered all challenges while deployed thousands of miles from family and friends.

For the Sailors and Marines who have made her ready for sea, steamed her into combat, prepared her aircraft for launch, manned her rail upon arrival, nurtured her in overhaul periods, and sailed for lengthy deployments, there are thousands of special memories. You and all who have served before you in this great warship have so much for which to be proud.

It is my privilege to wish each member of your crew "Fair Winds and Following Seas." I salute the many personal sacrifices you have made in support of our Navy and country.

Congratulations!

Sincerely,

To My Shipmates in CONSTELLATION,

USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64) has answered all challenges while forward deployed for 42 years. From the first deployment in 1964 to the 21st and last deployment completed in June, "America's Flagship" has played a proud and vital role in the Navy and our Nation's history.

The crews of this great warship have excelled. You have made the ship ready for sea, steamed it in combat, and made its aircraft mission-ready. There are thousands of special memories.

It has been my privilege to serve as CONSTELLATION's 18th Strike Group Commander. As a former shipmate, I am proud to join you in commemorating this final milestone for "America's Flagship." I applaud the many sacrifices each of you have made while sailing in harm's way from the Gulf of Tonkin to the Arabian Gulf, throughout the Pacific and Indian Oceans. To the CONSTELLATION Family:

Today, we gather to celebrate this great ship and the tremendous contribution her crew, and their families, have made over the years to our Navy and our Nation. In both war and peace, more than 100,000 dedicated officers, Sailors and Marines of CONSTELLATION and her embarked Air Wings have left a legacy of patriotism, dedication and professional excellence. During 21 overseas deployments and countless exercises at sea, CONSTELLATION has defined the leading edge.

Throughout the cold war, CONSTELLATION provided a powerful presence in supporting the United States' forward presence strategy. "America's Flagship" has always been ready on arrival to "Fly, Fight and Win." She established an outstanding combat record during seven Vietnam combat deployments, and was the standard of warfighting excellence during OPERATIONS SOUTHERN WATCH and ENDURING FREEDOM. It is especially fitting that during her last deployment, her great strength and flexibility exemplified the "From the Sea" strategy as a key enabling force during the LIBERATION OF IRAQ.

Our great ship's long service life reflects a continuum of excellence spanning nearly 42 years. Every Connie Sailor and family member can stand proud today for the role each of you played in making and keeping this ship great! We made a difference in our Nation's defense and humbly accept the Nation's sincere and heartfelt thanks.

It has been my absolute honor and privilege to serve as CONSTELLATION's 30th Commanding Officer. As a shipmate, I am proud today to join you in celebrating this final milestone for "America's Flagship." I salute the many sacrifices you made while sailing the oceans and strategic waterways of the globe, and for keeping the home fires burning. Thank you, good luck, God bless and Godspeed. Please always remember to take care of yourself, take care of your families, and take care of your shipmates. Well done, shipmates, well done!

Sincerely and Very Respectfully,

J. W. MILLER

*At the Helm:
The responsibility of the Commanding Officer*

The Job Behind the Title:

Only a seaman realizes to what great extent an entire ship reflects the personality and ability of one individual; her commanding officer. To a landsman this is not understandable and sometimes it is even difficult for us to comprehend, but it is so.

A ship at sea is a different world unto herself and in consideration of the protracted and distant operations of the fleet units, the Navy must place great power, responsibility, and trust in the hands of those leaders chosen for command.

In each ship there is one man who, in the hour of emergency or peril at sea, can turn to no other man. There is one man who alone is ultimately responsible for the safe navigation, engineering performance, accurate gunfire and morale of his ship. He is the Commanding Officer. He IS the ship!

This is the most difficult and demanding assignment in the Navy. There is not an instant during his tour as commanding officer that he can escape the grasp of command responsibility. His privileges in view of his obligations are almost ludicrously small; nevertheless this is the spur which has given the Navy its greatest leaders.

It is a duty which most richly deserves the highest, time-honored title of the seafaring word...CAPTAIN!

The heart of Connie always beat deep in her engineering spaces, her character was always on the flight deck, but her spirit came from the crew. It was Sailors taking care of Sailors, leading the way in education and advancement, doing things the right way and making her the operator of the fleet that defined her spirit. As you say your farewells to the best ship, crew and tour I have ever or will ever experience, rest assured the "Connie Spirit" lives on.

Randy "Duke" Cunningham was born December 8, 1941, in Los Angeles, California. After earning his bachelors degree in 1964, and his masters in education in 1965, from the University of Missouri, Congressman Cunningham began his career as an educator and a coach at Hinsdale, Illinois High School. As a swimming coach, he trained two athletes to Olympic gold and silver medals. He later expanded his education experience as the Dean of the School of Aviation at National University in San Diego.

In 1966, at the age of 25, Congressman Cunningham joined the U.S. Navy and became one of the most highly decorated pilots of the Vietnam War. As the first fighter ace of the war, the Congressman was nominated for the Medal of Honor, received the navy Cross, two Silver Stars, fifteen Air Medals, the Purple Heart and several other decorations.

Congressman Cunningham's experience in Vietnam, and his background as an educator, prepared him well to train fighter pilots at the Navy fighter Weapons School - the famed "Top Gun" program at Miramar naval Air Station. As Commanding Officer of the elite Navy Adversary Squadron, the Congressman flew Russian tactics and formations against America's best combat pilots. Many of his real-life experiences as a Navy aviator, and fighter pilot instructor, were depicted in the popular movie "Top Gun."

Upon his retirement in 1987, Cunningham translated the Master in Business Administration he earned at National University into a successful business in San Diego.

In 2000, the people of California's 51st Congressional District elected Duke Cunningham to his sixth term in the House of Representatives. As the voters returned a Republican majority to both chambers of Congress, Congressman Cunningham retained his position on the powerful House Appropriations Committee. The Congressman also serves on the Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education Appropriations subcommittee, which provides funding for our national defense and armed services. At the beginning of the 107th Congress, Congressman Cunningham was appointed to the Select Committee on Intelligence. Members are chosen for this select committee based on their ardent interest and special expertise in dealing with national security issues.

Several organizations have honored Congressman Cunningham for his work in Congress. Most notably, he has been recognized for his work as a fiscal conservative by such organizations as Citizens for a Sound Economy, the National Taxpayer's Union and the National Federation of Independent Business. He has also been recognized by education groups for his tireless advocacy and by several law enforcement organizations for his tough-on-crime position.

Congressman Cunningham and his wife Nancy, the Director of Administrative Support Services for the Encinitas Union School district, in San Diego County, have three children - Todd, April and Carrie.

Constellation's Crest

CONSTELLATION's crest is simple, yet strong and to the point. It tells the viewer about "America's Flagship" history, and reveals its motto of "Spirit of the Old, Pride of the New."

CONSTELLATION's crest is round in shape, with a navy blue field surrounded by a gold circle, the colors of the U.S. Navy.

On the top left side of the middle of her crest sails the 1797 U.S. Frigate CONSTELLATION, sails full of wind. On the bottom right side of the middle of her crest steams the 1961 aircraft carrier USS CONSTELLATION, air wing embarked. The top right side displays an F/A-18C Hornet with three Sea Sparrow three missiles in flight, displaying projection of power. The Hornet represents her first air wing and her projection of power. The three Sea Sparrow missiles represent her self-defense.

Thirteen stars, one for each of the thirteen original colonies, circle around the field of blue, just inside the gold ring.

Shortly after her upkeep period in 1978, CONSTELLATION's official crest had its major change. The "A" was dropped from CVA 64 as she was redesignated. And again in August 1981 after President Reagan's visit. At that time, the phrase "America's Flagship" was once again used in connection with CONSTELLATION.

As in 1797, when Frigate CONSTELLATION was called "America's Flagship" so it was in 1981. The phrase "America's Flagship" was added at the bottom of the crest, in the ring of gold, and has been in use until today.

U.S.S. Constellation: A "Stellar" History

The name Constellation is one the most famous in U.S. Naval history. The first ship to be commissioned in the United States Navy; the first to put to sea; the first to engage, defeat and capture an enemy vessel, under a new budget program for the young, fledgling country, was the three-masted, square-rigged U.S. Frigate CONSTELLATION.

It all started on March 27, 1794, when a special act of Congress provided for building the U.S. Navy's first new ships. This was opposed to previous means whereby the emergent Government purchased merchant trading vessels, and then retro-fitted the ships with guns. Six frigates were built under the new program. These six frigates were given symbolic names which the Congress felt the new country could rally around: CONSTITUTION, CONGRESS, CHESAPEAKE, UNITED STATES, PRESIDENT and CONSTELLATION. But the first ship to be commissioned under this new program was to be given a name held in highest esteem by the Congress - the name for the ring of white stars in a blue field displayed on the new American flag: CONSTELLATION.

On June 29, 1795, the building of United States Frigate CONSTELLATION began at Harris Creek Shipyard in Baltimore's Fells Point. She was 176 feet long, had a 41-foot beam, and keel-to-main mast height of 170 feet. On her three masts she carried a normal sail area of 20,000 square yards, but had a maximum sail area of 25,400 yards. She carried 28 24-pound guns on her gun deck, and five 12-pound guns on her forecastle and quarterdeck. She displaced 1,265 tons, and carried a crew 324 men captained by Captain Thomas Truxton.

On September 7, 1797, U.S. Frigate CONSTELLATION was launched, and in less than one year, saw her first war-time action as the United States entered its first naval war, the "Quasi War," with France (1798 - 1801). This war was primarily CONSTELLATION's war. On February 9, 1799, CONSTELLATION fought, defeated and captured the 40-gun French Frigate L'INSURGENT, the fastest ship in the French Navy, in action off Nevis, West Indies. Under the command of legendary Captain Truxton, it was the first battle involving one of the original six frigates, and was the first major victory by an American-designed and built warship.

The "Quasi War" brought about several firsts. As CONSTELLATION carried the "Stars and Stripes" into battle and defeated L'INSURGENT, a maritime custom was carried out. The French frigate lowered its flag to the "Colors" aboard CONSTELLATION, making it the first time that the "Stars and Stripes" were recognized by a foreign country. In the aftermath of this battle, the United States Congress declared CONSTELLATION "America's Flagship."

There were many more victories to follow. On February 1st and 2nd, 1800, Capt. Truxton and CONSTELLATION's crew fought a night battle with France's 54-gun frigate LA VENGEANCE off Guadeloupe. CONSTELLATION was again victorious, winning a bloody and violent five-hour battle. French sailors, amazed at CONSTELLATION's agility, and ability to attain and maintain the thrilling speed of 13 knots while sailing under nearly an acre of canvas sails, nicknamed her "Yankee Racehorse."

Both battles were cause for rejoicing throughout the new republic. CONSTELLATION had aggressively defended America's right of safe passage for its merchant ships. These first naval victories served notice to the world that the United States would defend her honor and freedom at all costs.

While these victories were important to the nation, Capt. Truxton and CONSTELLATION made an even greater contribution to the emerging United States Navy; a system of conduct, discipline, gunnery signals and naval operations were put into effect by Capt. Truxton. His system set a pattern of success and efficiency that became the basis of modern U.S. Naval procedure.

CONSTELLATION would continue to serve with distinction in the Barbary Wars against Tripoli and in the War of 1812 against Great Britain. Between 1813 and 1840, CONSTELLATION was kept busy with continual service in the Western Atlantic area.

In 1840, CONSTELLATION completed an historic voyage around the world, which included being the first U.S. warship to navigate the inland waterways of China.

Finally, after more than 50 years of extraordinary service, U.S. Frigate CONSTELLATION was in dire need of repair. In 1853 she was torn down at the Gosport Navy Yard in Norfolk, Virginia.

But the name CONSTELLATION would live on. She underwent a major overhaul, and, in mid-1854, CONSTELLATION was re-designated and launched as U.S. Sloop of War CONSTELLATION. With dimensions similar to her famous predecessor, U.S. Sloop of War CONSTELLATION was slightly larger. She measured 176 feet long, and had a beam of 42 feet. This larger hull gave her a 1,400-ton displacement. She now carried 22 larger guns and a crew of 240 men.

The new ship's first assignment was Slave Trade Interdiction off the west coast of Africa. In 1859 she captured Slave Brig Delicia off of the Congo coast.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, CONSTELLATION made the first union Navy capture, overpowering the Salver Triton in coastal waters off the west coast of current-day South Africa in 1861. On November 27, 1864, CONSTELLATION joined the Admiral Farragut blockade squadron, but saw limited action.

After the war, CONSTELLATION saw various duties. On January 17, 1871, CONSTELLATION sailed from Annapolis for the first of many summer cruises to train U.S. Naval Academy midshipmen the art of seamanship. Additionally, in 1880 she carried famine relief stores to Ireland, and precious American art works to the Paris Exposition in 1895.

In 1886, CONSTELLATION was not only educating midshipmen, but became a training ship for the Naval Training Center in Newport, Rhode Island. During World War I, she helped train more than 60,000 recruits in the art of deck seamanship.

In 1933, U.S. Sloop of War CONSTELLATION was decommissioned, but on August 24, 1940, was re-commissioned by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Shortly after the country's entry into World War II, she became the flagship for Admirals Ernest J. King and Royal Ingersoll.

On February 4, 1955 U.S. Sloop of War CONSTELLATION, was decommissioned for the last time in Boston, Massachusetts. On August 4, 1955, CONSTELLATION arrived in her new homeport in Baltimore Harbor, in Baltimore, Maryland. Today, U.S. Sloop of War CONSTELLATION is a National Historic Landmark. She is the last existing Civil War-era naval vessel, and the last sail-powered warship built by the U.S. Navy. Ironically, as the aircraft carrier USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64), was beginning her 19th over-

U.S.S. CONSTELLATION: Spirit of the Old, Pride of the New

As U.S. Sloop of War CONSTELLATION was being turned into a museum, plans were on the drawing board for a new class of "Super Carriers."

On September 14, 1957, at New York Naval Shipyard, in Brooklyn, New York, CONSTELLATION's keel was laid. It took a little more than three years to put the new "Super Carrier" in the water. Less than two months later, a major conflagration broke out in her forward main machinery room, which claimed 50 civilian and 14 military lives. This delayed her commissioning by a reported seven to eight months. Thus, the new "Super Carrier" USS CONSTELLATION (CVA 64), was commissioned on October 27, 1961 under the motto "Spirit of the Old, Pride of the New."

After some workups, and participation in the Cuban Missile Crisis, CONSTELLATION headed for her permanent homeport at Naval Air Station North Island, San Diego, California, where she has been stationed ever since.

Just like her predecessor, CONSTELLATION, America's newest and best warship was immediately put to the test. In response to North Vietnamese attacks on U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin in August 1964, CONSTELLATION departed early from a scheduled port visit in Hong Kong, and was the first U.S. warship to launch strikes against North Vietnamese vessels and bases.

During the next eight years, CONSTELLATION and her embarked aircraft would return to the South China Sea for a total of seven combat cruises, conducting air strikes against heavily fortified North Vietnamese positions, engaging naval targets and shooting down enemy aircraft.

In 1968, President Lyndon Johnson made a surprise visit prior to CONSTELLATION's fourth deployment to the Western Pacific. In November, CONSTELLATION pilots flew the last strikes missions into North Vietnam prior to a bombing-halt declaration.

However, the declaration was short-lived, and in May 1972, Lt. Randy Cunningham, and Lt.j.g. Willie Driscoll, of Fighter Attack Squadron (VFA) 96, became America's first fighter aces of the Vietnam War after downing three MiGs during vicious dog fighting over North Vietnam. The aviators subsequently shot down two additional enemy aircraft, for a total of five aerial victories in just four months.

For her actions in Southeast Asia, CONSTELLATION was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation by President Richard Nixon.

In 1975, CVA-64 was re-designated CV-64 after a major overhaul to her flight deck. The overhaul enabled her to deploy with the S-3A Viking (anti-submarine) and the legendary F-14 Tomcat (fighter) aircraft.

A newly refurbished CONSTELLATION began her 10th deployment in April 1977, which included the first port call by a U.S. aircraft carrier to Pattaya, Thailand.

In September 1978, CONSTELLATION sailed west once again on her 11th overseas deployment. Due to the Iranian Hostage Crisis, she was extended on station in the Arabian Gulf. Her service earned her the Navy and Marine Corps Expeditionary Medal.

While on her 12th deployment to the West Pacific and Indian oceans, CONSTELLATION set a new endurance record for that time by remaining on station for 110-consecutive days.

In the summer of 1981, CONSTELLATION once again earned the title "America's Flagship" when it hosted President Ronald Reagan for his first and only visit to an aircraft carrier while in office. On August 20, 1981 off the Southern California's coast, in an unprecedented gesture, the President presented a Presidential Flag to the CONSTELLATION's crew.

"Let friend and foe alike, know that America has the muscle to back up its words, and ships like this and men like you are that muscle."

— President Ronald Reagan

In 1982, CONSTELLATION returned to the yards, this time in Bremerton, Washington. Naval aviation had undergone vast changes since 1961, and when CONSTELLATION came out of the yards in 1984, two weeks early and under budget, it was completely modernized. One facet of her upgrade was the ability to carry the Navy's newest strike fighter, the F/A-18 Hornet. She was also fitted with the new PHALANX radar-guided gatling gun, two new flush-deck catapults and the NATO Sea Sparrow Missile Launching System.

During her 1987 deployment, CONSTELLATION once again found herself in the spotlight; this time providing vital air cover for the escort of U.S.-flagged oil tankers through the Arabian Gulf.

In February 1990, CONSTELLATION left San Diego, returning to the East Coast for a three-year overhaul. The $800-million Service Life Extension Program (SLEP), completed at Philadelphia Naval Shipyard, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in March 1993, added an estimated 15 years to CONSTELLATION's operational life. The overhaul saw upgrades to virtually every combat system.

After completing one of the most successful work-ups in Navy history, CONSTELLATION departed San Diego on March 16, 2001, beginning her 20th overseas deployment. After port calls in Sydney and Fremantle/Perth, Australia, CONSTELLATION entered the Arabian Gulf on May 2nd to conduct operations in support of United Nations' sanctions against Iraq, and to fly combat air patrols as part of Operation SOUTHERN WATCH.

On May 13, 2001, Capt. John W. Miller relieved Capt. Jamie D. Kelly and became CONSTELLATION's 30th Commanding Officer.

Having sailed a successful deployment, CONSTELLATION was on her final leg home with almost 1,000 family and friends ("Tigers") on board when the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001 occurred. As she drew nearer the Western coastline of the United States, CONSTELLATION and her air wing were among the first to support Operation NOBLE EAGLE - defense of the homeland.

Following an abbreviated Ship's Restricted Availability (SRA), CONSTELLATION was back at sea preparing for a chance to fight the global war on terrorism, and on November 2, 2002, USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64) departed for her 21st and final deployment after less than a 13-month turnaround. The mission was clear, and CONSTELLATION would once again be at the "Tip of the Spear." CONSTELLATION supported Operation ENDURING FREEDOM (Afghanistan) and reentered the Arabian Gulf on December 17, 2002 to conduct flight operations over Southern Iraq in support of Operation SOUTHERN WATCH.

Operation IRAQI FREEDOM began on March 20, 2003 and CONSTELLATION launched its first strikes against the regime of Saddam Hussein. Designated the "night carrier," CONSTELLATION remained on station throughout the conflict, launching more than 1,500 sorties and delivering over 1.7 million pounds of ordnance.

After an overwhelmingly successful deployment, CONSTELLATION proudly returned to homeport on June 2nd, and received an equally overwhelming "welcome home" from an estimated 17,000 family, friends and well-wishers.

For nearly 200 years, CONSTELLATION has traveled the world's oceans. Like her famous namesakes, USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64), has a proud and distinguished record. "Connie," as her crews affectionately call her, has, for almost 42 years, sailed into harm's way; from Yankee Station off the coast of Vietnam, to the turbulent waters of the Arabian Gulf. Indeed, CONSTELLATION's legacy lives on in her motto, "Spirit of the Old, Pride of the New."

Constellation's Legacy

Constellation's legacy is not her air wing.

Constellation's legacy is not her gear or equipment.

Constellation's legacy is not her deck plates, engines or even her hull.

Constellation's legacy is her more than one-hundred-thousand Sailors and Marines:

Her officers and enlisted, who have sailed her millions of miles, through quiet and calm, noise and tempest, hot and cold, keeping the waterways of the world open and free.

Constellation's legacy is the countless stories that have, are and will be told by her crew for days, weeks, months, years and decades to come of how they sailed "America's Flagship" bringing hope, peace and freedom to people around the world.

Constellation's legacy is always present even though we lay her to rest.

Constellation's legacy is . . . spirit of the old, pride of the new.

Quiet Voices

*Did you hear voices?
From the Tonkin Gulf to the Persian,
Whispering through dark, storm-tossed nights.
I must go, goodbye my love, cast off.*

*Distant ports, stranger's faces,
Ten-thousand memories locked within.
We treasured what was given, but grieved the cost,
We came young, left old, forever restless.*

*Across forty odd season spent,
With our sweet sweet love, the sea.
Two-hundred-thousand free souls manned the rails,
All from the patchwork heart of America.*

*Captains, chiefs and corporals,
Strong voices in a glorious nautical choir.
Their chariot song carried the warriors to do battle,
The last true voices that prayed for peace.*

*Each one brought a special gift,
Strength, courage compassion, their lives.
And when asked, they freely gave what was needed,
For every one of them we are thankful.*

*Through many weary years of toil,
We struggled not as a crew, but as a family.
We always cried when that sad horn blew taps,
Those times will forever be who we are.*

*As she goes to final rest,
No shame soils her gloried decks.
All the ghosts that loved her before your salute
all softly murmur,*

"Well done shipmate. We have the watch."

Dedicated to Capt. Miller and the crew on Constellation's final deployment.

To the families of the Officers, men and Women of CV-64:

For nearly 42 years, Sailors and Marines of USS CONSTELLATION (CV 64), have gone to sea, time and time again, serving with distinction and pride, defending the freedom that so many take for granted. This service comes at a cost, a cost more painful because it is borne by those we cherish: Our families. You are the heart and soul of the finest war ship in the finest Navy the world has ever seen. We recognize your sacrifice and contributions to our success and deeply appreciate your understanding and strength. We salute you.

- CONSTELLATION -

"Let friend and foe alike know that America has the muscle to back up its words, and ships like this and men like you are that muscle."

- President Ronald Reagan -
