COMBINED TENDER ASSOCIATION
AD24, AV7, AV12 & TPM

We Crewmembers and ships historians of Currituck, Pine Island and Everglades & know the Cunningham share in a number of efforts to perpetuate the Ships history beyond just our generation.

You may wonder what happened to the Currituck Bell that was made aboard the Currituck and donated to our organization by a former ship mate. He had asked that it be Auctioned off to help our efforts to perpetuate the history of the ship, and her Sea Planes & crewmembers of the US Navy.

From Patti Murthy

My dad was on the Currituck during ships tour of Arctic Circa in the mid '40s I think.

My daughter is having a baby in November, a boy and the theme of his room is "adventure."

His deceased paternal grandfather was a fighter pilot, F-14 so I got a framed photo of the plane that he flew along with his story.

This little boy's great grandfather (maternal) Was a West Point grad ( and the father of the fighter pilot) and his adventures are well documented in history books if you will.

My daughter and her husband, Gen Ramey's grandson, have items in my soon to be born grandson's room that were given to him by President Rhee of South Korea in the early 50s.

My dad (maternal great grandfather) was a Petty Officer on the Currituck.

I am trying to fill his room with hero's, a word not dare uttered these days.

I am happy to take the bell as it was built on the Currituck, and represents the ships purpose and crews
