Something About Food That Saves On From Brain Fag.

That food can make or break a man is Amat food can make or break a man is shown in thousands of cases. If one's work requires the use of the brain, the food must furnish particles that will build up the brain and replace the daily loss.

Many times people fall ill, not knowing that the real cause of the trouble is the lack of the right kind of food to keep the body nourished.

lack of the right kind of food to keep the body nourished.

As an illustration: A young man in Chatham, Va., says: "I have been employed for quite a time in a large tobacco warehouse here. My work required a great deal of calculating, running up long and tiresome columns of figures. Last winter my health began to give out and I lost from two to ten days out of every month.

"I gradually got worse instead of better. It was discovered that when I did work many mistakes crept into my calculations in spite of all I could do. It was, of course, brain fag and exhaustion. After dragging along for several months I finally gave up my position, for every remedy on earth that I tried seemed to make me worse instead of better and I had to force down what food I ate, hating to see meal time come.

"One day a friend said, 'Crider, do you know there is a food called Grape-Nuts that I believe is made to fit just such cases as yours? The Lame rather attracted meand I tried the food. The delicious, sweetigh taste pieased me and I relished it. In about a week my old color began to come back and I gained in strength every day. Finally I weighed and found I was gaining fast in flesh, and with the strength came the desire for work, and when I went back I found that my mind was as accurate as ever and ready to tackle anything.

The date of this meeting has been changed to early in January, owing to other demands upon President Francis's time.

At World's Fair headquarters yesterday it was reported that the banquet to the Governors might be held in St. Louis if the executives could be persuaded to visit this city. The purpose of the ansembly was to urge upon the Governors the windom of strong recommendations to their respective State legislatures for great exhibits at the Exposition.

Fair Directory Meets To-Day. The Exposition directory will meet to-day in the Noonday Club at 11 o'clock. Vice President Spencer will preside. The matters to be taken up by the highest tribunal of the World's Fair relate to subjects which the Executive Committee has passed upon. The most important matter for their consideration will be the selection of the two members of the Arbitration Board, which will pass on the controversy between the local company and the National Commission over the rights of domestic exhibitors at the Fair to appeal to the commission for final adjustment of any difference which may arise between them and the Exposition management. These arbiters will meet with Arbitrators Thurston and Allen of the National Commission some time in January. Appointments made by the Executive Committee will be confirmed.

The St. Louis Millers' Club has appointed a committee to consider plans for a clubhouse to be erected on the World's Fair site. The cost of the proposed structure, which will be used exclusively for social purposes, will be about $9,990. As soon as the architect has completed his plans, Alexander H. Smith will submit them to Director of Works Taylor for his approval. A site 50 by 99 feet will be asked for the building. The funds for the structure will be raised among the millers and their business connections in St. Louis.

It is proposed to make the clubhouse two stories high, with four large lounging rooms and six other apartments for buffet, private apartments and the quarters of employes. The following committee will take up the matter of collecting subscriptions: Charles T. Neale, Edgar D. Tilten, Henry G. Craft, David A. Marks and F. W. Meyer, with F. E. Body Found by Chambermaid.

At 19 o'clock yesterday morning the hotel chambermaid tried the door to enter the room and clean it, but found it locked. As no sound was heard inside, she looked through the keyhole and saw the woman hanging from the post of the brass bedstead. Patrolman Curren was called and he cut down the body and had it sent to the morgue. Mrs. Powers had twisted a sheet about her neck, tied one end to the post and had then fallen. The twisted sheet strangled her to ceath, although she might have saved herself at any moment before she became unconscious.

By the side of the body was a letter from Washington, Ia., evidently from a relative, and the note to Mrs. Algea.

At the Algea residence a Republic resporter was told by a member of the family that Mrs. Powers was Mrs. Algea's sister and that she had made her home there.

Mrs. Powers had been separated from ber hisband for some time. It was stated that Mr. Algea would take charge of the body and see to the funeral arrangements. It was also stated that the family has no idea of whem Mrs. Fewers's companion had been.

WILL USE MISSOURI WINE IN BATTLESHIP CHRISTENING.

Elaborately Designed Silver Case, Fashioned by Missouri Workmen, to Be Presented to Man-of-War's Sponsor, Miss Marion Cockrell-Radical Departure From Former Custom of Using Imported Wines.

Missouri wine in a bottle designed and fashioned by Missouri workmen will be used in christening the battleship named after the State. The great man-of-war is now under construction at the yards of the Newport News Ship Building Company, and will be launched on December 28.

It is the custom to present what remains of the bottle broken on the bow of a new ship to the person who bestows the name. For this reason the inscription on the bottle bears the name of Miss Marion Cockrell. who will officiate as sponsor, and that of the Stone Hill Wine Company of Hermann. Mo., by whom it is presented.

The bottle, which has just been completed in the workshops of the Mermod & Jac-card Jewelry Company, is made with a base of silver network, with a solid silver casing around the body of the bottle up to the neck. A United States coat of arms is executed in high relief on the body of the bottle. Above this is a shield and the coat of arms of Missouri, also in high relief.

On the opposite side of the bottle is a large shield bearing the inscription, including the date of the launching. A smaller plate bears the name of the wine used 386.40 against Casper Gestring. No judgment was found against the other directors.

One of the principal charges against the directors was that the bank suffered losses because of overdrafts, which, it was stated, the cashier, L. G. Kammerer, allowed to be made. It was claimed that the directors should have kept themselves informed of the business transacted in the bank, so that such occurrences could not take place without their knowledge, and that it was their duty to prevent them.

The referee's report was filed last March. Exceptions were filed by the directors against whom the referee recommended that judgments be given. Mr. Stone also filed exceptions, claiming that the referee had not recommended sufficient judgments to be given. Judge Douglas overruled all the exceptions and approved the referee's report, just as it was submitted.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are resementible for Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue much suffering with fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; makes your head ache and back ache, causes indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, makes you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.
