

ASSASSINATED IN HIS OWN HOUSE

A. J. Porter, Wealthy Man, Shot Down in the Presence of His Wife and Robbed.

THE MURDERER UNKNOWN

A Frenzied Struggle Between Mrs. Porter and the Robber.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
 GAITHERSBURG, Va., November 26.—At GAITHERSBURG, an isolated section of Scott County, near the Russell county line, a most heinous murder and robbery was perpetrated Saturday night. A. J. Porter, a wealthy man, aged sixty-five, was shot dead at his own residence by an unknown man. The murderer knocked at the door, Mrs. Porter opened the door, when the murderer rushed past her, and saying, "Your time is up," shot Porter in the breast. Mrs. Porter seized the murderer, and with great difficulty he broke away from her frenzied grasp and shot Porter twice in the back. Any one of the shots would have proved fatal. The murderer fled in the direction of the river, estimated a mile from the dying man's residence, and disappeared. Porter was found dead at his own residence, but it is not known how much he had at the time.

CAPTURE BAND: BRING THEM TO CIENFUEGOS

WASHINGTON, November 26.—Secretary Taft received the following dispatch today from Governor Magson, at Havana, under yesterday's date:
 "Band from Cienfuegos overpowered by detachment of rural guards under command of Captain Landa. They were taken into custody and dispersed with difficulty, and are now being brought to Cienfuegos. Band was composed of eight men."

MAGNIFICENT SILVER SERVICE TO BE PRESENTED BY STATE TO BATTLESHIP

The magnificent silver service to be presented to the Battleship Virginia by the Commonwealth of Virginia has been received from the Philadelphia manufacturers by their agents in this city, Messrs. C. Lumsden & Sons, and is now on exhibition in their jewelry-house, No. 221 East Main Street.

The seal of the United States Navy Department are to be applied to each piece. Adjutant-General Anderson yesterday by appointment of the commissioners went to Lumsden's with a copy of the contract in his hand and carefully examined every piece, comparing it with the contract and found that the agreement of the manufacturers has been carried out to the letter and they have furnished a handsome silver service as ever was seen in this city.

The immense punch bowl, with a capacity of eight gallons, is, of course, the largest piece in the entire set. It is 26 1/2 inches in diameter, and its height, including the ebony base, is 31 1/4 inches. The bowl is gilded on the inside. On one side is an etching of Virginia's new Capitol, and around the ebony base are medallions containing portraits of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Harrison, Tyler and Taylor, the seven Presidents from Virginia.

The round tray for the punch set is 21 1/2 inches in diameter, and the center contains etchings of the old ships "Susan Constant," "Godspeed," and "Discovery"; also the figures "1607" and a view of Jamestown as it is supposed to have been.

The punch ladle has a gilded bowl, and the eighteen punch cups are gilded on the inside.

The water pitcher, which is a beautiful piece, was upon it an etching of "Chief Justice Marshall. On the tray for the water pitcher is an etching of Pocahontas in the act of saving the life of John Smith. The salad bowl, which is twelve inches in diameter and 4 1/4 inches in height, has an etching of Patrick Henry. Two immense living cups have, etchings of General Robert E. Lee and Commodore Maury.

The oval tray for the coffee set was an etching of the retunda of the University of Virginia. On the coffee urn, which is an etching showing the Natural Bridge. In the center of the tea service silver, which is twenty-six inches long and nineteen wide, is a large etching of the battleship Virginia. On the wooden cigar box, which is silver mounted, is an etching of Sir Walter Raleigh surrounded by tobacco leaves.

All Inscribed.

The other pieces, which go to make up the beautiful service, are an elegant oval soup tureen, 15 1/4 inches in diameter and 10 1/2 inches high, two gravy boats, two oval meat platters, four compoilers, one after-dinner coffee pot, one sugar bowl, one cream pitcher, one hot water kettle and, on every piece, great and small, are the words "U. S. Battleship Virginia." The inscription: "From the Commonwealth of Virginia to the United States Battleship Virginia, 1906." is on the punch bowl, and on every piece, great and small, are the words "U. S. Battleship Virginia." The commissioners will meet in a day or two and weigh the various articles, and if the weights come up to contract, as undoubtedly they will, the service will be accepted and for and become the property of the Commonwealth until presented to the battleship bearing the name Virginia.

The contract called for fifty pieces of silver, and it was provided that "the various pieces constituting the service are to be made according to the best style of the silversmith's art, and are to contain in the aggregate not less than 2500 ounces of sterling silver, 92-100 fine, and besides the historic and other illustrations and portraits mentioned in the specifications, the seal of Virginia and the seal of the United States Navy Department are to be applied to each piece. Adjutant-General Anderson yesterday by appointment of the commissioners went to Lumsden's with a copy of the contract in his hand and carefully examined every piece, comparing it with the contract and found that the agreement of the manufacturers has been carried out to the letter and they have furnished a handsome silver service as ever was seen in this city.

BROTHERS ACT AS HERPALL-BEARERS

Sister of Senator Thomas S. Martin Buried at Old Home, Near Scottsville.

SCOTTVILLE, Va., November 26.—The burial of Mrs. Jacob Luther Moon, of Richmond, took place this afternoon at the Presbyterian cemetery here, and was witnessed by a large crowd of grief-stricken relatives and friends. The burial service was conducted by the Rev. Calvin Stewart of the Church of the Covenant, Richmond, and the prayer offered by him for the sorrowing family was touching and beautiful in its tender and sympathetic for the bereaved. Many floral tributes of exquisite design were sent by loving friends, and the grave was literally hidden under masses of roses, lilies and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Moon was born in Scottsville and lived here all of her life until the removal of the family to Richmond seven years ago. At the time of her death she was in the sixty-second year of her age. She was the daughter of the late Mrs. Martha Ann Martin, her maiden name being Ann Martin. She was married to Mr. Jacob Luther Moon of Scottsville, who with five children, survives her. These children are Mrs. Hunter Pickling Lewis, of Richmond; Mrs. Mary Ann Moon, of Camden, N. J.; Jacob Luther Moon, Jr., John Martin Moon and Miss Collette Moon, all of Richmond. She also leaves one sister, Miss Catherine Martin, and four brothers—Senator Thomas S. Martin and Messrs. Samuel, Leslie and John Martin, all of Richmond, and two of the sons, Messrs. J. Luther Moon, Jr., and J. Martin Moon, noted as coal-brokers.

Mrs. Moon united with the Christian Church at this place when about fifteen years old, and it had no more faithful and devoted member than she. With a disposition that was all sweetness, a temperment of the sunniest, and a heart wherein dwelt only benevolence and charity, she had no enemies, and her friends were numberless. It was the joy of her life to be the mother, teacher and helper, where she could, within sight of her old home, Stone Point, her gentle spirit seems to hover still. Several of the aged folk accounts came to-day to see their beloved Mrs. Moon laid to rest. Her own works need not be said, and with shining hearts those who loved her try to remember that she is only a star some where.

TRAMPS STRIP MAN AND PUT HIM ON SLOW FIRE

STUBBINSVILLE, O., November 26.—Edward Coulter, a tramps, was attacked on the West Virginia side of the Ohio River this morning by tramps, who took his money, stripped him of his clothing and left him unconscious with his body lying across the still burning coals of a fire. He revived sufficiently to toll away from the fire and give a description of his assailants, who have not yet been arrested. Coulter cannot recover.

BAZAAR OPENS IN MANCHESTER

Leader Hall Crowded Last Night. Entertainment Was Much Enjoyed.

Leader Hall was crowded last night with old soldiers and wives and daughters of those who fought in the Civil War, when the bazaar, under the auspices of Chesterfield Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, opened. The hall was brilliantly lighted, and the booths were artistically arranged. Behind them stood charming ladies, with many assistants. An entertainment that was splendid for amateur performers was given, and not until a late hour did the crowd disperse. The bazaar will continue through the week and will be patronized liberally for the entertainment which night is well worth the price of admission, and the cause for which the ladies are working is an incentive for all to come.

The entertainment committee—Mrs. Walter Allen, Mrs. Richmond Minor, Mrs. Perry Winters and Mrs. J. W. Gregory—have worked hard to make the bazaar a success, and deserve a lot of credit for their efforts.

The booths are presided over by the following ladies: Miss Emma Pinchot, who looks health; Miss Ella Hancock, candy booth; Miss Irene Smith, fruit booth; Mrs. Allen, perfume booth; Miss Imogen Gregory, fancy booth.

A feature of the last evening was the address of Judge Thomas I. Christian, who was introduced by Judge Clinton of Manchester. The attendance of Richmond Daughters of the Confederacy was very large.

Tonight or to-morrow Governor Swanson will attend the bazaar. To-night Miss Kate Fuller will visit.

Labor Council to Meet.

The monthly meeting of the Central Trades and Labor Council will be had at the hall, corner of Fifth and Marshall Streets, to-night at 8 o'clock, so far as made known in advance, no business of unusual interest or importance will be taken up at the meeting.

CLERK ADMITS THEFT OF MONEY

accounts for the day preceding. The figures were so blurred that he was unable to decipher them, and he sent the book across to the bank to have the proper figures of the sum deposited there written in pencil on the margin. On leaving the bank he returned to him the book, which he should have deposited there, but he had not done so. The evening before Tompkins had telephoned him that a telegram had suddenly summoned him to Washington on business, and with this fact in his mind, Mr. Chawning communicated with Mrs. Tompkins. Mrs. Tompkins said that no telegram had been received, and that she feared her son had run off with Josephine Breckenridge, and asked Mr. Chawning to come up to see her. Mrs. Tompkins said she wanted her son brought back to Richmond at any cost, and as there was no other way, Mr. Chawning put the matter in the hands of detectives, with the result that Tompkins was located in Savannah, where he was arrested yesterday. His wife was with him, the necessary money having been furnished in Baltimore. The woman had given her name as Ethel Stewart.

Mr. Chawning referred to Tompkins in the highest terms, saying that he had been heretofore a model young man in every respect, and that he had never held him in the highest esteem. He had looked on him almost as a son, and was deeply grieved and surprised when he discovered that he had yielded to temptation. Mr. Chawning denies absolutely the statement that Tompkins's penitence extended through many months, and that he cleverly falsified his returns. An examination of the books shows that the young man was never before short a cent in his accounts, and the mistake he made last Tuesday was his first.

Mother Broken-Hearted.

Mrs. Tompkins is broken-hearted over the occurrence. She has five sons, but Russell, she said, was the apple of her eye and the idol of her heart. He had supported his mother and sister ever since he had been at work. In all his family relations he was kind and brotherly, and showered on the two his utmost devotion and affection. Mrs. Tompkins lays all the blame on the woman, who, beautiful of face, had, she says, completely fascinated her son. The young man had informed his mother about the woman, and had expressed a desire to help her. Mrs. Tompkins used every means in her power to dissuade her son from this course, but all to no avail. Tompkins took the woman to the home of a relative on Barton Heights, where he represented her as his cousin. He asked that she be allowed to stay there until he could send her back to her former home in Scottsville.

Mrs. Tompkins said last night that she can and will do nothing in the defense of her son. "What can I do?" she asked.

"There is nothing in the world that I could do for him. Her voice broke, and the poor little woman was left alone with her sorrow."

Mr. Chawning said he did not care to prosecute Tompkins, but that the matter has now gone too far for him to do anything to help the young man.

Will Return.

According to a telegram received at police headquarters yesterday evening, Tompkins is being held in Savannah, Ga., where he was arrested yesterday, charged with the theft of $500 from A. J. Chawning & Co. of Richmond. The telegram states that Tompkins has agreed to come to Richmond without requisition papers. It reads:

"Tompkins under arrest. Will return without requisition papers. Send officer for him."
 (Signed) "CHARLES GARPUNKLE, Superintendent Police."

ARRESTED IN SAVANNAH.

Tompkins Admits Having Taken Money Given Him to Deposit.

SAVANNAH, Ga., November 26.—Russell W. Tompkins, of Richmond, was arrested this morning as he stepped from the steamship Alleghany, from Baltimore, accompanied by his bride. As the couple came down the gang-plank Detective Murphy took the young man in charge, and he was taken to the station house, where he was locked up. A short time later Detective Murphy swore out a warrant against him, charging him with being a fugitive from justice.

The authorities in Richmond were apprised of young Tompkins's detention, and requested to send an officer for him. On Tompkins was found but seventy-five cents and his watch. He expressed himself as perfectly content to go back to Richmond without a requisition.

Admits Theft.

To a reporter the prisoner talked reservedly about himself and his escapade with Mrs. Tompkins, but he admitted that Tompkins says he absconded with $500 belonging to his employers, A. J. Chawning & Company, real estate brokers and private bankers of Richmond. He was employed by the firm as chief clerk and confidential man. He came into possession of the money, which he should have deposited to their credit, but instead took the money and left for Baltimore. There he met by arrangement Miss Ethel Stewart, to whom he had been engaged, and they were married without saying anything to their friends. Mrs. Tompkins visited her husband at the barracks this afternoon. She was in tears, but he quieted her, telling her everything would be all right.

"I do not care to say what I did with the money," he said, "nor to tell anything further than I have told."

He denies having told anybody serious that he was going to Colonel as the Richmond dispatch to the police says he was. "That was only a con, I gave the steward on the ship," he said.

AMERICAN GIRL'S GREAT TRIUMPH

Miss Geraldine Farrar, at Opening of Grand Opera Season, Wins All Hearts.

FLOWERS SHOWER ABOUT HER

Each of the More Than Dozen Times She Was Called Back Bouquets Were Given.

NEW YORK, November 26.—With Gounod's "Roméo et Juliette" as the premier, introducing three singers new to the lyric stage of America, the grand opera season opened to-night at the Metropolitan. The audience was, if possible, larger and more brilliant than ever before.

Indeed, the feature of the opening night was the first appearance in grand opera in this country of Miss Geraldine Farrar, the young American soprano, and prima of the Royal Opera House in Berlin. Miss Farrar was the Juliette, a role in which she has won her laurels in Berlin and elsewhere in Europe. Some eight years ago Miss Farrar, a girl of sixteen, sang on trial one afternoon in New York as a novice among other aspiring vocalists. Since then she has developed into the most popular of American prima donnas in Europe, and a generous endorsement of that verdict was voiced by an American audience to-night.

Charles Rossiniere, one of the leading tenors of the Paris opera, was the Romeo, in which part he has been received with much favor by the critics in his own country. Charles Simari, a baritone, took the part of Mercutio. Both sharing in the triumph of Miss Farrar. Those who reported in the cast were Pio Paganini, as Friar Laurence; Journet as Capulet Maximilian, as the Duke de Verone; Josephine Jacoby, as Juliette, and Jacques Bars, as Tybalt.

Won All Hearts.

Before the first act was over Miss Farrar had won her house, which brought her back again and again at the fall of the curtain. It was not until the end of the balcony scene, however, that the triumph of the American girl, returned to her own people, was fully demonstrated. Every seat in the great house filled, the audience waited without a handclap, deeply intent upon each and every note the curtain dropped. Then, indeed, the young artist had cause to feel that it was into the warm American hearts she had so quickly sung her way. She was recalled fully a dozen times, and at each recall bouquets carried upon the stage, great floral glazes and clusters of American beauty roses. They came until the prima donna had a high bank of roses, and still the audience called.

STIEFF SELF-PLAYER PIANO IN OPERATION.

The Piano That Everyone Can Play

This instrument is nothing more or less than a self-playing mechanism, its perfect as human artistic skill can make it. Built into the renowned Stieff Upright Piano. In no way whatever detracting from the wonderful tone or the exterior appearance of the piano.

Self-playing attachment operates the mechanical part of the piano with all of the shading, the tempo, the color and the soul of the composer conveyed through the operator's every impulse, by the use of the expression levers, so conveniently arranged that his every mood and feeling are conveyed through this wonderful instrument.

The Piano is at all times ready to be played by the mechanism or by hand in the usual way, or the performer who so wishes may add additional notes to the connection with either or both hands, while the self-play roll brings out all of the melody or the accompaniment as intended by the composer, as the mechanism of the piano acts in the same way in no way interfering with the action of the Stieff Piano and is not attached to or made a part of our regular piano, but simply a player placed inside of our regular Stieff Piano.

IT IS A PLEASURABLE NECESSITY—NOT A LUXURY

The resources and possibilities of the Stieff Self-Player Piano are almost unlimited. Every music lover, who unfortunately may not be an accomplished musician, by this instrument is enabled to accurately interpret the most difficult compositions. It is a piano for the home which may be played by any member of the family or their visiting friends and relatives. Especially does it offer exceptional advantages to schools and colleges with music departments, and presents an instructive feature of demonstrating or giving complete recitals by the world's greatest masters.

What Better Investment Than a Stieff Self-Player Piano?

The pure, sweet, charming tone; poetic delicacy of touch and action; artistic design and finish and the unexcelled workmanship of the Stieff Piano are due to 67 years' progressive study and experience in piano-making. Our method of selling direct from our factory guarantees absolutely the greatest value.

We have adopted the Standard tracker board, by which any standard roll of music may be used. This permits a repertoire of nearly fifteen thousand selections, and gives the purchaser the privilege of exchanging rolls with his neighbor who may own a Stieff piano and never wear out, the cost of operation is virtually a profitable investment.

Write or call for our handsome, illustrated booklet, "From Popular Song to Grand Opera," which tells you more about this self-player piano.

Easy terms, or your old piano taken in exchange at a liberal valuation.
