A wealthy Chinese merchant died recently at the age of eighty-one, who left twelve daughters, several of them married to well known Americans. One of the sons-in-law is an Admiral in the United States Navy.

Gold and The Chinaman was Arng Ah Fong, Daughters. or Afong, as the name became, whose estates in Honolulu and China, togther with ships, railroad stocks and mines, have been valued all the way from $10.000,000 to $30,000,000. Though he amassed the most of his wealth in the Sandwich Islands, Ah Fong, like the true Chinaman, loved his native land best, and in China he spent the later years of his life and in China he died. His widow was the granddaughter of a native Hawaiian woman.

Her father was Abram H. Fayerweather, of New Canaan, Conn. She now lives in a new house which was built on the site of the old home of the family in Honolulu, and amid the groves of cocoanut trees, where many a courtship was begun that ended in an international marriage. Emmeline Afong at the old Honolulu home met J. Alfred Magoon, of Indiana, now a well known lawyer in Honolulu. She is now Mrs. Magoon. Nancy became the wife of Frank B. McStocker, manager of the Olaa plantation. Julia married Arthur Johnstone, the author, among whose books is one concerning the visit to Robert Louis Stevenson in the Sandwich Islands. The other married daughters are Henrietta, who is the wife of Rear Admiral Whiting, U. S. N.; Marie K., who wed A. S. Humphreys, lately a judge in Honolulu; Elizabeth, who became the wife of I. R. Burns, of New York; Helen G., widow of W. A. Henshall, a Honolulu lawyer; Caroline B., wife of J. M. Riggs, now of Honolulu, formerly of the United States Navy; Martha M., the wife of Lieutenant A. J. Dougherty, of the 28th Infantry, U. S. A.; Melaine B., who married J. W. W. Brewster, of New York, and Mrs. Alice Hutchinson. The eldest daughter, Mary, seems to prefer the single life. She has never married and now lives with her mother in the Honolulu home.
