

INTERNAL DISORDERS DISTURB GERMANY

NATION'S EDITOR'S ARE INSULTED BY MAYOR VANLEAR IN HIS WELCOME

National Editorial Association Hear Themselves Denounced at the Opening of Convention.

"HAVE TO TAKE WHAT IS HANDED TO US," IS REPLY

Binging Resolution Endorsing the President and Pledging All To the United States.

St. Paul, July 10.—Mayor Thomas Van Lear of Minneapolis startled the National Editorial association yesterday when in his address of welcome, he attacked the press in general terms for submitting to "the business men's thumbscrew in the editorial office."

In numerous instances, he declared, it has been shown through advertisements "big business was able to dictate what newspapers should and should not print."

"Every measure proposed for the strengthening of militarism here," he asserted, "however little it may accord with the ideals of democracy, has received the unequivocal support of the great press." He cited the Colorado labor troubles, asserting that the facts were not given by leading papers.

"Minneapolis will show us many strange and unusual things, I am sure," said President Tomlinson when Mayor Van Lear had finished. "but not in the least of these is her Socialist mayor."

Guy U. Hardy of Canon City, Colo., who responded to the address of welcome, also referred to the mayor's attack on the press.

Retort Courteous.
"There is little I can say except thanks for your welcome," he said. "We have to take it as it is handed to us. We cannot look a gift horse in the mouth. I agree so fully with the mayor about the beauties of the scenery of Colorado that I will not discuss that with him."

At this juncture in the program a patriotic resolution was offered by Lee J. Roundtree of Texas, George E. Hosmer, Colorado; Homer Harwood, Michigan; Edward Albright, Tennessee, and J. C. Brimblecan, Massachusetts.

"I ask immediate adoption of this resolution," said Mr. Roundtree, "as it is peculiarly fitting that it shall be passed at this time." It was adopted viva voce and telegraphed at once to President Wilson. It follows:

"The National Editorial association in annual convention assembled desires to express to its supreme confidence and patriotic support in the crisis of our republic, and expresses belief that you will safely lead our nation to victory in the present war. We urge every patriotic and loyal American citizen to give you their unqualified support, pledging mutually their lives, their fortunes and our sacred honor, as the forefathers gave when the republic was founded. With an abiding faith in our great earthly destiny as a nation of righteousness, we look for ultimate and complete triumph of our army and navy on land and sea."

Government Speaks.
Brief welcoming addresses were made by Governor Burnquist, by Fred E. Hadley of Winnebago, president of the Minnesota Editorial association, and by L. F. Blyer, chairman of the convention committee of the Civic and Commerce association.

Mr. Blyer gave the editors statistics on the resources of Minnesota and on the Twin Cities, which he said form a community of 700,000 people. "The people of every state," said Governor Burnquist, "stand back of the constitution and the flag, for the extension of American liberty, for obtaining the eliminating of military tyranny, and the liberation of oppressed peoples."
