MARJORIE TO BE MI-CAREME GUEST

Battleship Girl Invited to Biltmore Festival This Afternoon.

CONTRIBUTION COMES FROM FAR HAWAII

Mississippi Mammy Gathers Her Ten Children About Her and Talks Preparedness.

Marjorie Sterrett is to be at the Mi-Carème Festival at the Biltmore this afternoon. The committee in charge of the fête, whose patronesses include some of New York's leading women, yesterday sent the thirteen-year-old girl whose dime started the battleship fund the following invitation:

"The committee of the Mi-Carême Festival for the relief of the war sufferers of France, Belgium and Poland, to be held at the Biltmore on Monday afternoon, March 27, requests the pleasure of Miss Marjorie Sterrett's company at tea. We would be glad to have her come in uniform or any costume which may please her.

"Very truly yours, "EDITHEA WHITNEY RUDDEROW."

The battleship girl will have an opportunity to see the instruments of war straight from Europe's battlefields that will be on exhibition. These include helmets, belts and other relics of the men who have died for their countries. They will be of much greater interest to the girl than the fashion show of the latest French models which will also be there.

Committees and Patronesses.

The festival has been organized by a consolidation of four societies working for the relief of France and her Allies: the American Committee for Relief of Babes of Belgium; the Polish Victims' Relief Fund, of which Ignace Paderewski is head; the American Girls' Aid for France, whose president is Miss Gladys Hollingsworth, and the COLLECTED BY T. C. FOGARTY AT TOM'S War Clearing House for France and her Allies, of which Joseph H. Choate 0, M is honorary president.

Walbridge S. Taft is treasurer of the M committee in charge, which is led by W. A. Schiberg.

He was mad with being joiled around on the man arm resched out, and the biggest and ugliest haboon I have ever seen hopped right out on the floor. He was mad with being jolted around on the man's back, and so he started right after me. I got one look at his two-inch chisel teeth, opened the window, hopped out backward and started hot-foot for help I gathered half a dozen keepers and ran back. Jove! what a battle we had with the brute! During the scrap it developed that Mr. Baboon had a lame leg, so when we had him quieted we stuffed him head first back into his bag and presented him to the sailor. The last I saw of him he was hobbling out of the doorway.

"It's a lucky thing," the curator chuckled, "that my room is on the ground floor. That isn't the only time I have had to leave in a hurry. Another sailor lugged in a big tub half full of dirty water not long ago. I thought he had a turtle, so I stuck my hand in without thinking, and was knocked over backward clear across the room, spilling a chair and a table on the way."

The curator stopped. "It's a great
