Amalgamated Is Among

Rising Stocks on Wall

Street Mart.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, Feb. 18.—The majority of stocks were lower at the opening today. Amalgamated Copper and Tennessee Coal were conspicuous exceptions with an advance of large fractions, and Anaconda rose 334 in sympathy with the former. Amongst the declines Smetting and Leather preferred reached a point. The chances otherwise were small fractions. A number of active leaders, including St. Paul, New York Central. Anaconda and Amalgamated, ran off below opening prices. Meanwhile Wabash preferred, Brooklyn Transit, Smelting and Republic Steel rose sharply. Orders for Amalgamated Copper came into the market at the low level and the price advanced to 74, with some effect all around.

Prices drifted sluggishly in an aimless fashion, except in important stocks. The market hardened when gold exports tomorrow were seen to be unlikely, but eased off with a loss of 1½ in New York Central; Northwestern preferred sold at a decline of 15 points from the preceding sale last month and Canada Southern fell 1½.

Bonds were steady at noon.

Most of the limited selling was Amalgamated, which again touched 74, the highest point of the day. Fluctuations in other speculative shares was light and professionals paid little attention to the market. General Electric gained 134, while Colorado Fuel and St. Louis Southwestern lost 1 and New Jersey Central 4 points.

HIGGINS IS ABLE TO PRESIDE AGAIN

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR IS BACK AFTER ILLNESS-DONE IN THE MONTANA SENATE TODAY.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN.

Helena, Feb., 18.—For the first time in several days Lieutenant Governor Higgins, pale and weak from his illness, presided over the senate this afternoon.

The upper house proceeded to slaughter bills on committee report as the first thing it, its session today. These bills were killed in this manner: House bill 120—Reducing the hoard of prisoners from 50 to 40 cents a day; House bill 23—Changing the number of deputies in county offices; House bill 141—Providing for signs at cross roads. Evidently the senate has started a war on house bills.

Senate bill 86, the measure which provides for sending orders for printing, blank books and supplies out of the state to Eastern houses, was reported favorably by the committee on towns and counties. The only nouse bill raps, providing for extending the time of making payments on state lands.

WRESTLING SEEMS TO BE COMING IN

every muscle. While it is not as interesting to some folks as boxing, it is just as strenuous and trying. Wrestlers, like pugilists, are not immune to disfigurements. They are subject to cauliflower ears, the same as some scrappers. This comes from constant pressure on the ears in trying to apply or evade neck, half, further and full Nelsons.

Two Styles.

There are two styles of wrestling which are most used nowadays, namely, catch-ascatch-can and Graeco-Roman. Catch-as-catch-can is the most popular, because it is more diverting. It permits your oppo-nent to grasp any part of your body, whereas Graeco-Roman rules stipulate that only holds above the waist shall count. In recent years the strangle hold is applied by putting your arm around your connecest. recent years the strangle hold is applied by putting your arm around your opponent's neck and pressing on his wind. The favorite hold of a number of wrestlers is the back hammer lock. This is hard to resist and invariably results in a victory when properly applied.

Nowadays most of the bouts are limited to two hours instead of to a finish. Best two out of three falls count. Men who have the advantage of weight and apparent skill sometimes undertake to throw their adversaries twice or more times in one hour. These contests, however, are not as interesting, as those in which a number of falls are to score a victory.

The average wrestler lasts longer than a fighter. The day of a pugilist is supposed to be between 20 and 30 years. Yet there are wrestlers in the business, who at 50, are able to throw men younger and perhaps stronger. Jenkins, Bothner and McLeod are over 30. Cannon is gearly 50 and is still on the mat doing good work. A Buffalo physician recently said that the reason a wrestler lasts longer has to do with the center of gravity. The wrestler does most of his work while down, while a pugilist has to use his feet.

THE BATTLE SHIP TEXAS.

New York, Feb. 18.—The United States battleship Texas crossed the bar early this morning on the way up the river. She was loudly cheered on all sides as she steamed away, and the scene was one in which spontaneous and involuntary enthusiasm played a marked part. The Texas made a fine appearance and her progress was majestic and imposing.

MEN

Consultation Free

Do not delay consulting us. In many minor cases we are able to offer advice which, if followed, will prove sufficient. We aim to be help-tul to every man, no matter whether we treat his case or not, and any uid in the way of suggestions that we can render is always freely and cheerfully given. Those who cannot call are at liberty to write, describing their symptoms or asking questions. To all who request it, we will mail, sealed and under plain cover, our instructive pamphlet encover, our instructive pamphlet en-titled "Live the Rest of Your Life a Man."

OUR PRACTICE IS. THE LARGEST BECAUSE WE INVARIABLY FULFILL OUR PROMISES.

Why Our Cures Are Permanent

Are Permanent

Our practice presents a peculiar feature that we believe is not found in any other physician's practice. The peculiarity is this: A case that we could not cure permanently would show no improvement whatever under our treatment. Odd as this: A case that we could not cure per logical reason for it. We never per logical reason for it. We never treat symptoms. Symptoms may easily be caused to vanish and much improvement will be apparent, but it is the condition back of the symptoms that must be remeated before there can be a cure. Having gained a full understanding of men's discases and ascertained the cause of every symptom that is ever presented our treatment is always so directed as to correct these causes and do nothing else. Therefore, were we to make an error in diagnosis and mistake the cause, no results whatever would be shown. Having cured so many hundreds of tases of the same diseases we have no excuse for making errors, and are able to treat with absolute accuracy in every instance, completely correcting the disturbing condition and through this action removing every symptom forever.

to an admiring throng one day. "Only let me at him!"
So a match was made between Hickey and Fitz for four rounds at Shooting Park. Those who had Hickey in tow told him that the only way to beat Fitz was to wade right in from the start, swing right and left for the head. They also told Fitz about the Irishman, and Bob got into the humor of the affair immediately. When Hickey got into the ring that night he was confident of winning an easy victory.

Easy Money.

Easy Money.

Easy Money.

"I never seen this here Fitzsimmons," said he to his seconds, "but when I do I'll tell you how easy it'll he!"

The crowd broke into cheers when Fitz appeared. Robert wore a scared look, and apparently was so rattled that he could not climb through the ropes. One of his seconds showed him how to get into his corner, and the moment he sat down he was seemingly in a tremble.

"Why, the spalpeen is licked now," exclaimed Hickey. "His knees is a-knockin' together, and he wants to quit. Keep him from climbing out of the ring so that I can do him quick."

Fitz made an attempt to climb out of the ring, but his seconds dragged him back. Then Hickey was deed sure he had the much-vaunted Cornishman at his mercy, Bob knew so little about the gloves that his seconds had to show him how to draw them on. The gong rang for the men to shake hands, but when Fitz shuffled up with the scared look still covering his recelled face Hickey refused to shake with him, saying:
"He's a coward, begob! I'll soon knock a coward, begob! I'll soon knock

"He's a coward, begob! I'll soon knock his red head off!"

The battle began and Hickey sailed in, right and left. Fitz saw him coming and turned tail. In a moment Hickey was chasing Bob all over the ring.

"Stand up and fight," roared the Irichman. "You're no man at all, at all!" Fitz turned and clinched. The referee had great trouble to break them. Again Hickey rushed out, to find the Cornishman on the dead run.

"Wot kind of a fighter are yez?" fairly great trouble to break them. Again Hickey rushed out, to find the Cornishman on the dead run.

"Wot kind of a fighter are yez?" fairly screamed Hickey, as he stopped short, puffing like a grampus. But Fitz. cowering in a corner, made no reply. When he had regained his breath Hickey rushed again, and this time he planted a right-hander on the side of Fitz's head. Bob recled agains, and this time he planted a right-hander on the side of Fitz's head. Bob recled against the ropes and grabbed them with both hands to keep from fulling.

"Aha, begorra, I've got yez," bellowed the Irishnan, who piled in with all of his strength. Fitz was groggy, apparently, and Hickey was so excited that he lost his head completely. The gong rang just as they came together, and Hickey, dancing a jig, hurried to his corner in high glee.

"I'll bate him to dith," he exclaimed as he glared across the ring at Fitz, who seemed to be in great distress. When the gong rang again Bob came out of his corner like a man 70 years of age. He shuffled along to the middle of the ring and feeby threw his arms around Hickey's neck as they clashe!

"Stand back," shricked Hickey, beside himself with rage. Fitz drew away and ducked half a dozen blows. Then he turned his back and sllowed Hickey to chase him to a corner. With a yell of triumph Hickey was in the act of training blows on the Corniahman's head when something happened, Fitz steadied himself, let go the right for a head blow, which pulled up Hickey's guard, and then drove the left home to the pit of the stomach with terrific force. It sounded like a butcher striking a piece of beef with a cleaver. Hickey was lifted completely off his feet and tumbled over backward unconscious. His second instantly threw up the sponge. "was it a house that fell on me," he asked, "or was it a horse car?"

Ten seconds later the Frishman opered the eyes.

"Was it a house that fell on me," he asked, "or was it a horse car?"

"Fitz knocked you out," said his second, "The spalpeen did nothing of the kind," insisted Hickey. "I had a faintin' spell.

Maloney, who the h—I told yez to throw up the sponge? Let me at him, for I'll bate him to dith."

But Fitz, convulsed with laughter, had dressed and gone away.

BELIEVE FRANK BAER IS BEARMOUTH TRAIN ROBBER

The dispatch from Washington telling of the arrest of Franklin Baer, alias Jo-seph Meyer, on the charge of robbery, and his subsequent claim that he was the seph Meyer, on the charge of robbery, and his subsequent claim that he was the highwayman who held up the Northern Pacific passenger train near Bearmouth, has added to the general interest in hold up news in this vicinity. The dispatch stated that Baer was arrested for some other offense and then communicated to a detective that he was the man who held up the train; that he got the larger part of the sum of $11,500, part of which is now on deposit in a Chicago bank.

The dispatch further stated that Baer had a homestead entry 70 miles from Butte and recently sent a letter to his wife under the name of Baer, when he has claimed his name was Meyer.

"I used to know a fellow by the name of Frank Baer living in what is now Granite county," said Postmaster Irvin today. "It is very possible that the Frank Baer living in what is now Granite county," said Postmaster Irvin today. "It is very possible that the Frank Baer living in what is now Granite county, who is in Butte, said he knew no such person as Frank Baer livin to freely and had some fun with the detective by claiming he held up the train. Frank Baer lived near what is now Little Chicago."

Ex-Representative L. C. Parker of Granite county, who is in Butte, said he knew no such person as Frank Baer living where Mr. Irvin said, but admitted that such a person might be living there and hegwould not know it.

There does not seem to be much credence placed in the Washington dispatch, especially the part in which Baer claims to have secured $11,500 by the robbery. Train hold-up suspects are being arrested daily, but they soon prove an alibi.
