

CITY HALL AND A LITTLE OF BROAD STREET. The photographer stood on the sidewalk in front of the Bellevue-Stratford when this view caught his eye. A trolley car is going west on Walnut street. Ledger Photo Service.

THE ACE OF SPADES. Hearts may have been trumps, but Miss Katherine Vanneman's dancing won much applause. Ledger Photo Service.

THEY GOT THE HIGHEST BID. The ace, the eight, the ten spot and the lady of hearts, represented by Miss Mary Greenfield, Miss Agnes Hastings, Miss Helen Sheeran and Miss Marion Vanneman. Ledger Photo Service.

QUEEN OF SPADES. It's a rough card in a game of hearts, but it's different in the case of Miss Madeline Delahanty. Ledger Photo Service.

SIXTEEN GIRLS APPEARED IN "HEARTS ARE TRUMPS," AN OPENING FEATURE OF THE PHILOPATRIAN BALL HELD AT THE BELLEVUE-STRATFORD LAST NIGHT

RUMANIAN FUNERAL CUSTOM. Miss Rosie Bronko wearing picturesque clothing at funeral of a Philadelphia Rumanian. Ledger Photo Service.

MRS. BARCLAY H. WARBURTON. of Philadelphia, enjoying the bathing at Palm Beach. Underwood & Underwood.

MARRIED SIXTY-THREE YEARS. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Keichline live at 924 North Forty-seventh street, where they have resided forty-five years. Mr. Keichline is eighty-five years old and his wife eighty-one. They are looking at the family album. Ledger Photo Service.

"CARRIED" EIGHTY-FIVE MILES. The United States submarine L-1, rammed last week by a pilotboat off the Delaware capes, came into the Philadelphia Navy Yard yesterday, supported by the salvage tug Kalmia (left) and the navy yard tug Modoc. At the right can be seen a ten-inch pump line from the Kalmia which kept the water out of the engine hatchroom of the submersible during the trip from Lewes, Del. A smaller pump line worked from the Modoc. Ledger Photo Service.

ROBERT D. DRIGGS, a former director of public safety, talks on women and City Council in an Editorial Page interview.

SAID TO HAVE VAMPED PREACHER. Mrs. Laurie Trifon, of San Francisco, accused of carrying on hymnbook flirtation with her pastor. International.

THE WILSONS ARE MOVING. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and her mother, Mrs. Bolling, making their way through the crates and boxes in front of their new home, 2340 S street, N. W., Washington. International.

"HOLY TERROR" That's the name given this sixteen-year-old girl soldier by the Armenians. She fought against the Turks. Keystone View Co.

BLAUER'S "SMILERS" JUDGE LIMPIN LIMRICKS. These smiling employees of Blauer's, Inc., dealers in women's wearing apparel, at 833 Market street, made the award that is announced today in the limrick contest on Page 2. In the picture from left to right (front row), Miss P. F. Berry, Miss Ray Solomon, Miss Sadie Fingerth, Miss Ida Meyers, Miss Cecilia Sklar and Miss M. C. Huston; (back row), Miss May E. Price, Miss Sophie Sharlip, Miss Rowena R. Watkins, Miss Madeline Siderig, Miss Marie Conway and Miss Clara Fischer.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

MISS BERTHA SOTORIS, 2304 North Twenty-fifth street, and Miss Kathryn Fay, 1315 West Girard avenue, weaving crystal cut-glass beads on lighting fixtures at Horn & Brannen Manufacturing Co., 427 North Broad street. Ledger Photo Service.

SEMAPHORE SENTINELS

THREE OF THE ADOPTED CHILDREN. Mrs. F. E. A. South, of Atlanta, Ga., has confessed that all of the babies supposedly born to her were in reality adopted from maternity homes. International.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

RESERVE PATROLMAN ADAM E. MAIERS, of 2041 North Franklin street, who has been stationed at Eighth and Market streets for ten of his twelve years as a patrolman. He is forty years old, is married and has one son. Ledger Photo Service.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

LONDON BANK HEAD CHARGED WITH MISMANAGEMENT. The arrest of Thomas Farrow, head of Farrow's Bank, startled the English metropolis. Underwood & Underwood.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

MISS LAURA V. WINTERS 2123 South Third street Philadelphia