A black and white photograph of the conning tower of a submarine, identified by the number 583. The tower is dark and rectangular, with a large white number '583' painted on its front. Above the tower, a tall mast with a circular radar or searchlight at the top is visible. The submarine is partially submerged in a snowy or icy environment, with snow visible at the base of the tower. The background is a bright, overexposed sky.
